American Training Videos Custodial Series 1001B Interior Office Building Cleaning Part II
[AMT-1001B]

Explains proper cleaning procedures for: carpeted floors; door knobs and electrical switch plates; office furniture and accessories; telephones and drinking fountains; walls, doors and windows; window ledges and book- case shelves; windows in doors, walls and partitions; wall hangings and wood paneling. Computers are found in almost all offices. Custodians need to know how to work around computer equipment. Both training DVDs discuss the seven-step program for cleaning offices and other rooms inside an office building. Every custodian will appreciate the step-by-step approach for professional office cleaning that teaches them how to do more in less time and helps keep them from missing important cleaning tasks or requirements. The content presents the information every custodian needs to know in order to perform professional cleaning duties.
